

Prince George Lawyer

Prince George Lawyer - Our tax law group's services span the full range of taxation areas: provincial sales tax and goods and services tax, corporate and personal income tax, and international tax. Our clients include individuals, corporates, trusts, estates, and not-for-profit organizations like for instance charities. Our tax lawyers draw on other areas of our firm for quality suggestion in various tax law transactions.

Our firm is able to offer services for individual clients, like for example help in lessening taxes throughout their lifetimes; help in maximizing their estates; help with using deferral opportunities and prudent savings tax. Reducing the tax burdens of beneficiaries is essential to clients and we provide assistance and recommendation in relation to estates and trusts.

We help business clients with public financings, mergers and acquisitions and corporate reorganizations, both internationally and domestically. We advise about the use of financial intermediaries and specialized entities in tax planning. We assist foreign and local borrowers and lenders to structure their transactions in the most tax effective method.

We have significant knowledge in commodity tax law. We focus on helping individuals and organizations about various concerns of tax associated to retail sales and goods and services tax. We work closely together with clients involved in international and national trade in identifying tax-saving opportunities. We likewise help with compliance issues.

Our tax group has helped a lot of clients throughout all stages of the tax review procedure, from the preliminary audit stage to the resolution of disputes in the most timely and cost-effective manner.

The lawyers of our tax law group are dedicated to regular analysis of the constantly evolving developments within the tax law field. Our up-to-date knowledge allows us to advise regarding issues arising from government policies, judicial interpretation and amendments to tax legislation.

We help organizations to incorporate as non-profit and charitable organizations, and provide all the associated advice regarding governance concerns, insurance matters, risk management, fiduciary responsibilities and strategic planning.

Our tax law litigators have a long history of handling different tax disputes, like for instance those related to income tax, retail sales tax, goods and services tax, as well as various other disputes under taxation statutes.