

Prince George Labour Lawyer

Prince George Labour Lawyer - Were you fired by your employer? Was the notice given reasonable? Did your boss treat you justly or were you wrongfully dismissed? Is the severance package they provided fair or do you deserve more? If you do not sign off on it, what happens?

Several hard questions and challenges arise, when your position at a business has been terminated. The idea of being out of work for whichever length of time could be stressful and might be somewhat intimidating. It is important that you understand your rights to be able to ensure that you are being given fair compensation from your former employer. The lawyers working for our firm are experienced negotiators who will fight for what you are lawfully entitled to. If needed, they would begin legal proceedings.

Representation and advice are offered for certain situations, like for example constructive dismissal, non disclosure agreements, non competition and confidentiality agreements, wrongful dismissal and severance, employment contracts and fiduciary duties. Our layers are experienced at determining the fairness of a severance package and would make sure that you receive what you are entitled to. In addition, our firm also offers advice to supervisors on pre and post employment situations.