

Prince George Family Law

Prince George Family Law - Family breakups could result in a great deal of emotional stress for everyone involved. Family law within this country comprises numerous different pieces of legislation. Our family law lawyer would navigate the difficulties of family law for you, and help you to be able to understand the relevant legislation as it applies to your specific situation.

Our objective is to reach amicable solutions while preventing the high expenses connected with the court procedure. However, occasionally negotiations do not achieve the desired result. If it becomes necessary, we will help you throughout every step of the court procedure so as to reach the best possible result.

We provide services connected to the preparation of marriage contracts and cohabitation agreements, divorce (contested or uncontested), preparation and negotiation of separation agreements, and resolution of problems regarding property division, custody, access, spousal and child support.